

YOUTH, CAR CONDUCTOR,
LONG SOUGHT IN VA

Martin Kessler, Seventeen, Vanished on Hunt for War Job After Draft Call Revealed Age.

Two months ago yesterday, seventeen-year-old Martin Kessler left home to look for a job and did not come back. Yesterday his mother, Mrs. Route Kessler of No. 548 East 38th Street, made her second visit to all the hospitals of the Bronx and to Bellevue. Meantime, the Kesslers have tried every way in their power, without success, to find a trace of the missing boy. No city institution has a record of injuries to a boy of Martin's description. The Fifth Branch Detective Bureau has been equally unsuccessful.

Martin was a conductor on the Fourth Avenue surface line, but when the war registration last spring revealed that he was under age he lost his job. He is 5 feet 4 inches in height, of dark complexion, with brown hair and eyes, and weighs about 145 pounds. When he left home he wore a blue suit, tan shoes and a brown felt hat.

CAMOUFLAGED PIE
A PATRIOTIC DODGE OF THE HOTEL MEN

They're Holding an Exposition and Also Aiding Uncle Sam in War.

As a symbol of patriotism camouflaged since pie is something new you will learn all about it, however. If you go up to the National Hotel Men's Exposition at Grand Central Palace and stick around awhile. Nobody but the official press agent knows how many billion dollars worth of hotel properties are represented by the 15,000 hotel proprietors and department managers who will attend the exposition this week. But, and here is the big point in this year's exposition. The immense values don't interfere with the serious consideration by the hotel magnates of such problems as saving wheat by serving toast without trimming the crust off the bread.

For this is a Hooverized exposition. Hotel men from here to the Coast in one direction, and down to the border in the other, not forgetting those from New England and points over the Canadian border, have come to New York, of all places, to receive inspiration in economy. That is the keynote of the exposition, but to the average flat dweller, whose only connection with the hotel business is as paying teller of a dinner or bar check, the show offers countless helpful suggestions for home economy. There are about 500 exhibits of every imaginable wrinkle in housekeeping. After all, as one woman remarked after a delighted round of the booths today, "Hotel keeping is only housekeeping on a grand scale."

She had just been looking at such revelation as fly-screens which roll up like curtains and need never be taken down or out when cold weather comes and fly time is over. Her mind was dazzled by the possibilities of saving laundry bills and trouble by the use of hot air drying machines instead of hand towels. She had been shown how to use a half dozen simple and cheap little instruments to prepare vegetables for the table in a way she had never dreamed possible.

But while the general public is learning a lot about the inside of the hotel business, the hotel keepers, of city, State and national organizations are having the time of their lives.

As for those present, the simplest way is to say that everybody is there. Of the hotel Association of New York City, the officers, who are very much in evidence, are such well known men as Thomas D. Green of the Hotel Woodward, President; John McE. Bowman of the Biltmore, Vice President; Harry P. Stimson of the Cumberland, Secretary, and William H. Valguenot of the Woodstock, Treasurer. On the Executive Committee is David H. Knott of the

The Evening World Plan
for Americanizing Aliens to Be Applied to Women

Law Creating Forums and Social Centres Praised by Mrs. William Einstein.

By Sophie Irene Loeb.
(Special Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 13.—"One of the most important laws passed in the last Legislature through the efforts of The Evening World was the Americanization Forum Bill."

This is the statement made by Mrs. William Einstein before the State Federation of Women's Clubs at Albany today. Mrs. Einstein is Chairman of the Americanization Committee of the Federation and is planning to organize, through her committee, Americanization forums and civic centres all over the State.

"If our public schools are not equipped for this purpose," says Mrs. Einstein, "they ought to be. They should be the great social and civic centres wherein wisely and patiently and thoroughly we should teach Americanization. This too should be done in every section of the State, from Montauk Point to Lake Erie and from the Canadian border to the Pennsylvania line."

"It is especially important now that the women having been granted the vote in this State, which will undoubtedly give many foreign born women the right to cast a ballot, that the spirit of Americanization be instilled in the minds and hearts of such women—and that alien women who, in many instances, have to be bread winners owing to the war conditions, be instructed in our language as well."

"Therefore the women of our clubs should give this matter their particular attention. Special committees should be formed in every community which will undertake the duty of seeing that every alien woman takes out her citizen's papers, understands her voting rights and is able to speak and understand English. No place for this purpose is better than the school house, which every foreign born woman knows."

"Gov. Whitman is entitled to the credit of signing the Americanization Forum Bill which was advocated by The Evening World. The main purpose of this bill is to allow the use of the public schools for community and civic forums, with the chief aim of making good Americans. This can be done on petition of twenty-five citizens."

"The purpose of this committee for the coming year includes the preparation and circulation of the work outlining what ought to be done by the women's clubs to spread Americanization ideas and principles, including reference to the voting right of women under the recent amendment to the Constitution."

"We believe that the public school system throughout the State, from the little red school house on the hill in the country to the great and well equipped high schools of our large cities, affords the best opportunity to spread the principles of true Americanization, and there is no doubt it is the coming common meeting ground of the people."

"The night school and social centres conducted in the public schools are effective in promoting this work, and they can be made even more useful when better organized and equipped for this particular service, especially for social centre work at night. In New York City some of our best schools (notably the Washington Irving High School, located at Irving Place) are being wisely and effectively used for this purpose. The public school system, and especially the night school branch of it, attracts many adult persons, who, through its instrumentality, learn the true and abiding principles of Americanization and are there taught the English language—and it must be obvious to all that the use of a common language by the people of this country will greatly facilitate Americanization."

Warnings against the misuse of their newly acquired voting rights were served on the women of the State by several speakers. Although the subject of suffrage does not appear on the convention programme, in view of the fact that the Federation's membership includes opponents as well as supporters of votes for women, allusion to the suffrage victory of the polls last week was made in all the speeches.

Gov. Whitman told the eighteenth that they would be unworthy of the franchise if their opposition to candidates for public office was based on the fact that such candidates had worked against the suffrage amendment, or if they supported other candidates simply because the latter had aided the suffrage cause.

Mrs. William Grant Brown of New York, President of the Federation, in her annual address advised the women not to make party affiliations, but to vote for the individuals best qualified for office.

Hotel Holley, who as Sheriff-elect is soon to take over the management of a certain widely known but somewhat unpopular hostelry on Ludlow Street. Mr. Knott has been very noticeably active at the exposition, starting in by serving Grand Marshal of the parade of hotel men from the Park Avenue, where they were given a luncheon by George C. Brown as a preliminary to the opening of the exposition. Others on the Executive Committee are Paul B. Boden of the Manhattan, Claude R. Nott of the Somerset, W. H. Marshall of the Vanderbilt, H. Stanley Green of the Marie Antoinette and George C. Boldt of the Waldorf-Astoria.

On the Executive Committee, the Chairman is Edward M. Tierney of the Hotel Arlington in Binghamton and the Secretary is Mark A. Cadwell of No. 34 Fifth Avenue.

The most conspicuously warlike exhibit to-day is a big army truck bearing an array of bright copper boilers and labeled "The Hotel Taft Army Kitchen." It is the invention of J. C. La Vin, manager of the Taft in New Haven, and was brought down and wheeled under its own power upon the exposition floor last night. It is a company kitchen. Mr. La Vin conceived the idea after he had studied army cooking problems when his son was at Plattsburg.

The thirty-first annual convention of the New York State Hotel Association opened this morning at the Waldorf. A complimentary luncheon was tendered by Mr. Boldt. This afternoon the State Association held a business session. There will be a big theatre party of both State and city association members and their wives at the Hippodrome to-night.

A resolution was adopted at the business session in praise of the war work of the Young Men's Christian Association, and it was decided that contributions for this work shall be asked at the banquet of the association to-morrow night.

The following officers were elected: President, George Burnham, Saratoga Springs; Vice President, Claude R. Nott, Hotel Somerset, New York; Secretary, Mark A. Cadwell, No. 34 Fifth Avenue; Assistant Secretary, Charles Haeder, Geneva; Treasurer, Edward M. Tierney, Binghamton.

CONVICT WALTER PULTZER.

Failed to Appear at Trial and May Get Three Years.

Walter Pultzer, thirty-seven, of No. 2025 Broadway, a publisher, was convicted in the Court of Special Sessions before Justice Heron, Kenehan and Garvin last evening of having an obscene picture in his possession. Charles J. Hamberger, an agent of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, testified that he visited Pultzer's apartment Sept. 24, having previously learned that he had obscene and indecent pictures there. He bought one for $2.

Counsel for Pultzer, by virtue of a power of attorney, tried the case in the absence of the defendant, with the result that he was promptly convicted. Justices notified Pultzer's counsel to produce him in court Nov. 19 for sentencing. He is at liberty under $500 bail. The maximum penalty for the offense is an indeterminate term of not more than three years in the penitentiary.

VILLA ABOUT TO ATTACK
BORDER TOWN OF OJINAGA

Troops Moving by Way of La Hula Pass and Battle Is Expected To-Night.

PRESIDIO, Tex., Nov. 13.—Francisco Villa is again expected to attack the border town of Ojinaga, opposite here to-night. Villa and his forces are reported to be moving in the general direction of Ojinaga by way of La Hula Pass.

Couriers from Villa's main command approached the border last night and held conferences with Villa agents from the American side of the river. Mexican officials here believe that Villa is in command of the troops in person and that Hipolito Villa, his brother, is with him.

The purpose of the Villa movement into this district now is believed to be twofold. One is to obtain ammunition in exchange for silver bullion, seized by Villa, and the other to meet Hipolito and agents of Felix Diaz to consider joining the new revolutionary movement against Carranza and his Government.
